This page contains text in Hindi. It appears to be an article or a report, discussing various topics such as business, finance, and market trends. The text is written in a formal and informative style, typical of a newspaper or magazine article. Due to the nature of the content, it would be difficult to translate it accurately into English without understanding the specific context and terminology used. The page includes various sections, possibly including quotes, statistics, and graphical representations, which are common in such articles.